

The action plan for the recovery of the CIE-UMa research unit is based on a commitment to the strategic areas of curricular studies, pedagogical innovation and studies in the field of school leadership through well-defined goals and strategic objectives oriented towards the development and sustainability of the practices of the researchers of this unit in the participation in international networks and in the dissemination of the studies in indexed international.

The peripheral condition of the CIE-UMa can not be a barrier to the development of this center whose activity deserves the greatest support to overcome the constraints that arise from geography and distance. In this sense, the recovery plan affirms the will to transform the barriers into goals, a fact that deserves the greater recognition, in particular, because this center plays a fundamental role for sustainability and quality of the educational offer in the University of Madeira in the areas where this institution develops its activity and has as its mission and project oriented to innovation.
